Did DNA and freaked me out. My father is not my father. Finally got a name from my mother and just trying to put myself where and whom I'm from. Would answer a lot of questions I've always harbored. Any answers are appreciated. No drama...Just curious.

“ The first time I met Nick was when he came to upstate NY. He had our address as R D 1 Schenevus. However what he did not know is that R d means rural delivery and R D 1 goes for miles. He finally stopped and ask for help. We laughed about that. If I had car problems call Nick and he would come. When I lived in Erie and it was snowing so bad could not see so told them I would not be coming down. Nick got in his car and came and got me and took me back. There were other times that Nick was on the spot. He will be missed by all friends and family. I bet there will be a cat named Kayla keeping you company. Rest in peace Nick.

“ Dear Michelle, Ryan, Madison and family,

Both Faye and I would like to express our deepest condolences for your loss. We both respected him for his honesty, integrity, and devotion to his family. He was fun to be around and we always enjoyed the times we were able to spend with him.

May God truly bless him,

Sincerely,

Bob Wilhelm

“ Nick was a devoted father, with his greatest desire being for his children to reach their greatest potential. As we sat together at Madison's graduation from CALU, he talked about challenging kids, and how proud he was of both Ryan and Madison. i was very happy that we had developed a mutual respect, with the common interest of Ryan and Madison's success. I consider Nick to be a friend, and he will be missed. Rest well my friend.
